chathamstartribune.com —WASHINGTON, D.C. —More than 5,000 U.S. soldiers were forced into a cramped parking lot by Capitol Police for hours on end yesterday in what is being called a disgrace and human rights violation. The garage had a total of one bathroom, an electrical outlet and no WiFi access. Yesterday, dozens of senators and congressmen passed through our ranks taking pictures, shaking our hands and thanking us for our service. chathamstartribune.com — The Danville Community College Educational Foundation (DCCF), in conjunction with Danville Community College, Danville City, and Pittsylvania County, will provide free laptops to 500 students enrolled at Danville Community College in an effort to mitigate the technological difficulties created by the COVID-19 pandemic. Laptops are available to students through the generous monetary contributions of the city of Danville and Pittsylvania County. chathamstartribune.com — DANVILLE, Va. — Noblis, a science, technology and strategy organization located in the District of Rio, recently charitableized $5,000 to the Danville Public Schools Education Foundation. The resources will provide assistance to teachers who have incurred unplanned and out-of-pocket expenses due to the change in instruction delivery caused by COVID-19. chathamstartribune.com — The Danville Police Department is excited to recognize the second class of IDDU graduates. Wednesday night, the Department recognized seven graduates who recently completed the community program designed for people who have been released from prison in the past three years. This is seen as a unique store program for these returning citizens to help them integrate back into the community. chathamstartribune.com — This morning, Centra Medical Group Nationwide vaccinated its first Phase 1b vaccine implantation patient in Virginia, which went into effect January 18 in the Pittsylvania-Danville and Southside Health Districts. The Lynchburg-based hospital system with a prominent community hospital in Gretna vaccinated Ms. Irene Devine, an old woman with ample reason for wanting to arm against COVID-19. My husband died of COVID, and then I contracted, Devine said. chathamstartribune.com — The Virginia Department of Health's Pittsylvania-Danville Health District, in cooperation with Sovah Health-Danville, Danville City, Pittsylvania County, and Averett University, will hold a COVID-19 Dispensing Point Vaccination Clinic (POD) Saturday, January 23, at Averett University E. Stuart James Grant North Campus, 707 Mt. Cross Road in Danville. chathamstartribune.com — From autumn 2021, Radford University is bringing its Master's degree in Strategic Communication to the University Higher Education Centre from the South. Graduate school allows students to prepare for careers in a variety of areas and industries such as government, financial institutions, public relations companies, higher education and health education. chathamstartribune.com — On Thursday morning, several members of the Danville City Council received the first dose of their COVID-19 vaccines at PATHS in Danville. Members are vaccinated under group 1B by the Department of Health's definition of government officials. The council is encouraging citizens to get vaccinated as they are able. We're here today as a council to show that we're together and show the city the safety and need to get that vaccine, said Deputy Mayor Dr. Gary Miller. chathamstartribune.com — Caitlin Hutcherson will leave the River District Association at the end of January 2021. She is excited to spend time with her new daughter and help with her husband's business. Caitlin has been in the RDA since 2017 in several key roles such as office manager, communications and events manager and, more recently, operations manager. Caitlin has been an integral part of many RDA projects during her time in the organization. chathamstartribune.com — In the motion of Banister Representative Dr. Charles Miller, the Pittsylvania County Board of Supervisors at its Tuesday meeting unanimously passed a resolution supporting chatham south bridge after renowned civil rights activist Clyde L. Banks, Sr., According to Miller, Banks was chairman of the Pittsylvania County Community Action Council and president of the Pittsylvania County NAACP.
