Adams' percentage of primary school students in free and reduced lunch attendance (66.7%) is slightly higher than the state average of 65.6%. This may indicate that the area has a higher poverty level than the state average. Students at a participating school can buy a meal through the National School Lunch Program. Families with incomes of between 130% and 185% of the federal poverty level are eligible for cut-price meals. Schools cannot charge more than 40¢ for reduced-price lunches, or more than 30¢ for reduced-price breakfasts. Students from families with incomes equal to or less than 130% of the federal poverty level can enjoy free meals. For 2014, a family of two needs to make an annual income below $20,449 to be eligible for free meals or below $29,100 for cut-price meals. A family of four needs to make an annual income below $31,005 for free meals or $44,122 for cut-price meals.
