Few actors in Hindi cinemas had such a career arc: from a crappy adolescent yearning for his teacher (Mera Naam Joker, 1970) to a 90-year-old naughty ninety-year-old (Kapoor & Sons, 2016) Rishi Kapoor gained a close audience 50 years. He debuted, winning the National Award for his first film (Bobby, 1973), and his first film (Bobby, 1973) carved himself a series of romantic musical blockbusters in an era known for his anxiety-filled films. He was a youth icon that was still the toast of the satellite TV circuit. The songs he lip-dubbed bread and butter on all radio stations are still today.
