Every novel in contemporary urban America revolves around complex topics related to the lives of today's students: family, friendship, trust, isolation, violence, and peer pressure, to name a few. In addition, the books feature male and female characters and include elements of many literary genres, such as mystery, suspense, romance and a supernatural touch. In other words, the Bluford series offers something to almost every reader. Finally, the books are short \(less than 200 pages\) and written in a readable manner. Reviewed in a national reading magazine and praised by students and teachers across the country, the Bluford series appeals to readers of all ages.
