Hard drive manufacturers

If you can't find the hard drive you need in our online store, please Contact Us Page 2 Hard Drives USA is the country's leader in providing data storage and networking products, solutions and repair options for business or personal use. We are also a premier sourcing agent for after market disk, tape and optical drives. Our on-site inventory consists of a finished goods inventory of over 20,000 products ready to ship today! High quality products from all the major storage manufacturers, all interfaces for laptops, laptops, desktops, network computers and high-end data storage systems. Our services include repair of non-working disk and tape drives, emergency transportation, advanced exchanges, sales and sourcing of hard-to-find disk, tape and optical drives. We work closely with all our customers to ensure accurate product matches, and on-time delivery schedules while providing unmatched quality and reliability. Wikipedia list article Main article Main article: History of hard drives § Manufacturing history Diagram of consolidation At least 223 companies have manufactured hard drive drives. [1] Most of that industry has disappeared through bankruptcy or mergers and acquisitions. None of the first four players continue in the industry today. [2] Only three manufacturers have survived: Seagate, Toshiba and Western Digital (WD)—all of which were at least partly grown through mergers and acquisitions. Partial list of defunct manufacturers Some of the defunct manufacturers include: Alps America[3] Amcodyne[4] Ampex[4] Analex Corp. [2] Area Technology[4] – acquired by Tomen Corp in 1993[5] Atashi Technology, Inc. [3] Aura Associates[4] Avatar Systems[4] BASF[4] Brand Technologies[3] Bryant Computer Products[2][4] Bull[3] Burroughs Corporation[4][6] – merged with Sperry Corporation to form Unisys 1986 C. Itoh Electronics[3] Castlewood Systems Caelus Memories, Inc. [7] CalComp[4] Calluna Technologies[4] Cardiff[3] Century Data[4] Cogito[3] Comport[4] Computer Memories Inc. [4] (CMI) – left the industry in 1986[8] Computer Memory Devices, Inc. [9] Conner Peripherals[4] – merged with Seagate 1996 Control Data Corporation (CDC) / Imprimis Technology[4] – sold hard drive drive business to Seagate in 1989 Cornice LLC – bankrupt in 2007[10] Data Genre data data products Corp. [2] [4] Data recording instruments[4] (DRI) Data Tech Memories[3] Diablo System[4][11] - became Diablo computer systems in 1972 Digital Equipment Corporation[4] (DEC) – sold hard drive operations to Quantum Corporation 1994 Disc Tech One[3] Disctron[3] DMA[3] DZU (from Bulgaria)[4] – converted from state owned to private, and was sold to Videoton (company) in 1999 Ecol. 2[3] Emulex[3] Epson[3] Espert[3] ExcelStor Technology – left fuji electric[4] Fujitsu[4] – the HDD division acquired by Toshiba in July 2009[12] General Electric (GE)[4] Magicstor, Inc. – manufacturing 1-inch drive Hewlett-Packard[13] (HP) - 1976 to 1996, industry left Hitachi global storage technologies[4] (HGST) – 2002 merger of Hitachi and IBM dish drive businesses, sold to Western Digital in 2012 with part of 3.5 manufacturing facilities going to Toshiba[14][15][16][17] Hokushin Electric Works[4] Honeywell Bull[4][11] Hyosung[3] IBM[2][4] – hard drive operations acquired by Hitachi Global Storage Technologies in 2002 Information Storage Systems[4] Acquired by IteI, since Univac and finally CDC[18] Integral Peripherals[4] – first rigid 1.8 drive; bankruptcy in 1998 International Memories, Inc. (IM) Ceased production at the beginning of 1985. [19] Iomec[11] Iomega[4] – left the industry ISOT/I3OT (of Bulgaria)[nb 1] Josephine County Technology (JCT)[3] Ceased production in 1988. [20] JT Storage[4] (JTS) – bankruptcy 1999 JVC[4] – left industry Kalok[4] – bankruptcy 1994 Kyocera Electronics, Inc. [3] LaPine Technologies[4] Librascope[21] Marshall Laboratories[4] Matsushita[4] - left the industry in 2004 Maxtor[4] – acquired by Seagate in 2006 Memorex[4] – which was acquired by Burroughs in 1981 and then merged into Unisys in 1986; The HDD division was closed in 1988 Microcomputer Memories[4] – Chapter 7 bancruptcy 1987[22] Micropolis Corporation[4] – bankrupt in 1992 MiniScribe[4] – bankrupt and then acquired by Maxtor 1990 Ministors Periphera[4] – first mobile 1.8 drive; bankruptcy in 1998 Mitsubishi[4] – left industry Mitsumi Electronics Corporation[3] NCR Corporation[3] NEC[4] – left the industry Newberry Data[3] Nippon Electric Industry Co Ltd (NEI) AKA as Densai in Japan was 34.5% owned by NEC. Stopped manufacturing hard drives in December 1986. Western Digital will be allowed to acquire Hitachi's 2.5 and SSD operations, but not the 3.5-inch business. Instead Western Digital will be selling such business to Toshiba – factory and all – along with granting licenses for the necessary patents, which would allow Toshiba to effectively continue in the 3.5 market from where Hitachi away. This would firmly establish Seagate, Western Digital and Toshiba as the top 3 players in the hard drive business across all product segments. ^ Archived copy. Archived from the original on 3/3/2016.
