With Chat Bot Window Loading Chatbot New message I spent 5 hours (no exaggeration since it was actually more) try to get my HP printers online including a person at HP take over my PC and try to fix the problem. After being consulted twice with the superior a, he does not obbly how to fix it. Both printers - HP 3050 Deskjet and HP Neid 6255 - have been working wirelessly on my Wi-Fi until this morning, when both threw offline errors. They are To my wifi as are all of my devices so the wifi and internet aren't the issue. They both quit working with AIL of my devices - desktop Dell with Windows 10, Dell laptop with Windows 10, Kindle Fire and my iPhone 6s - so I know the OS isn't the issue. I have rebooted everything - the modem, the router, the PC and the printers - to no avail. Our PCs cannot find either printer. After some tweeking, I managed to get the 3050 connected, but nothing prints to the 3050; They print to the 6255. I have downloaded the 6255 drivers, the firmware and the software for the HP Envy 6255, but the files don't install. When I look at the device manager, Printer, I see: HP 3050 and unknown device.. I am quite frustrated because it is clear that the issue has to be the drivers for these printers. I am ready to go out and buy a printer that will not be an HP. This is not the first time my printers unexpectedly went offline, but it's the first time I haven't been able to fix them.
