Mystery hostess usborne

Who else is getting hit with tons of snow this weekend? Sounds like the perfect time to warm up with books, especially with all our new releases that I'm beyond excited to share with you! This Sunday, January 20, 2019, I have a Mystery Hostess January Book Party! I'll be showing off over 100 new titles that have just been released, as well as showcasing some of our favorites. I just LOVE hosting these sites because someone has the potential to win hundreds in free books! I've been a book lady with Usborne Books & More for almost a year and we've had so much fun building our home library! My favorite part of this job is sharing about these wonderful books with other mamas who want to promote literacy and help build your home library as well... maybe even for free! Want to skip a party but still be interested in books? Browse books here! Do you miss the party? Grab one of my other Mystery Hostess events or book one for yourself! Hi! I am Jaime and I am enjoying my days in Cleveland, Ohio with my beautiful, fiercely independent little lady and my wonderfully supportive husband. I love the beach, board games and I'm late for good conversations. Oh, and I love books, of course! Thank you for being here. See all the posts jaime mystery hostess site are where hostess prizes from orders placed at the event go to one lucky winner! This is a great way to get sites booked, sold and recruited – perfect! You can even spice up this themed event – like the Halloween Mystery Hostess event or the Christmas/Winter Mystery Hostess event! (This training will have images that you can use at any time that are not themed.) What's the difference between a Mystery Hostess event and a regular event? The event is mostly set to the same, except the hostess is determined at the end of the party. People can earn that place by doing 1 of these 3 things in the picture. 1) Placing an order – we all know how it works, someone orders it, and we thank them for their order and let them know they are entered to win. 2) Party – A really effective way to do this is to share an image with open dates on it and ask them to send you or comment with the date that works for them. Here's the image that has October and November ready to go for you. You can use an image editing site to add fields to mark the dates that are available, and some of them. The easiest way I found it to do this is to use www.picmonkey.com. Be sure to post in a thank you event and that they are put to win.3) Join the team – Join the section on your website is a great place to direct anyone who is curious about your business. In each case, we also host online Q&A events where you can invite potential team members. If someone joins, be sure to post in case you're excited to have them on the team and that they're put to win. How do they work? In general, all prizes resulting from the sale of the lot will go to one person, who is considered the Mysterious Hostess (free and for half the price of books). I would also like to offer some small rewards to other guests based on points per share. Some ideas for this can be a sample of clean activity cards (4 in an envelope) or free shipping. I post these winners at the end of the page as well, and refer to these awards during the event as BONUS gifts. Feel free to think about your own reward options, too! Choose Your Usborne Book Party Style Home Show – If you're local to me (Raleigh, North Carolina), I'd be happy to commute home, bring with you a lot of great books, and show right from home. Usborne Books at Home shows do really well as nothing gets you so excited about UBAM books then seeing them firsthand. I would like to keep the Usborne house's book pages simple, allowing each guest to choose a book from my display, flip it over, and then share with the group a little bit about the book they chose and their thoughts. So simple - not long, boring spiels! Catalog Usborne Sites - a catalog page can be good for you if you don't have space to accommodate a home show, or just don't want to emphasize about the perfect home, but you want to more personal with guests than an online event. I will send several catalogs in my own way in the mail, and your work will be brought through the catalog and order form to the guests. You will set the set it's time to return your order form and catalog so you can pass it on to the next guest and take further action with any questions or orders from each guest. Finally, we will collect all orders and then place an order for the prizes you have earned! Personal Shopping Link - You can also request a personalized shopping link. Links to events can remain open for up to 6 months. You can use your personal link to all your own orders and share with friends and family. Any orders placed under the link can help you earn free prizes for your book! Email your friends/family Create a wish list for birthdays and holidays and ask your family to shop with a personal link to get even more rewards Share your social media shopping link with a photo and message of why you love Usborne. Cute pictures of kids help! Purchase your own books under a unique link to your shopping link page like an affiliate link on your blog or website Usborne Book Party Facebook Event – The easiest solution, if your group of friends is tech-savvy, is to host your website online through the Facebook event page. It's not so personal and your guests won't see the books firsthand, but it's a really stress-free, fun, live party. What will I do as a hostess? How do usborne book pages work? Invite guests! Your main role as a hostess is to introduce family, friends, co-workers, neighbors and others who may want to join usborne book parties! You probably already love books, so it's easy to share this excitement and love for Usborne Books & More with your friends! Continuation - A very important part of the role of the hostess is the continuation with invited guests. It can be as simple as texting a reminder the day before a home show, informing guests of a special incentive to bring a friend or arrive on time. You can also send a quick Facebook message to a friend who didn't reply to your message just to make sure they don't miss your invitation if they're interested. We are all so busy that we need these reminders! The observation step can be so important for a successful book page, providing guests who show up. Interaction during usborne book party - Whether the party is at home or online, it is important that you, as a host, attend! You know your friends better than me and set the whole mode for the party. Point to usborne books that would be perfect for their kids or tag them on the Post page to make them interact. Interaction is the key to a successful batch of Usborne's book! It's really that simple and I'll be there to help you along the way with my own set of reminders to keep planning on the track! What can I earn? Usborne Hostess Awards I'm glad you asked, this is the most fun part of all – giving my hostess to share her love of love giving away many free and half expensive books! Make sure you ask me about monthly hostess promotions, for free BONUS books! Here's a handy chart of usborne hostess awards! The $2 hostess applies to free books, this allows for a loophole that allows you to pay sales tax for only a $2 fee and you won't have to apply for free books for taxes! The shipping fee will apply to all prizes of 8% of the retail price, with a minimum shipping fee of $6. How do I organize a Usborne Book Party? The first step is to choose a date!
