It is a large operation, requiring general anesthesia with minimal risk. Cats and dogs usually feel fine the day after surgery and require no special care except checking the stitches twice a day and returning to Scenic Hills Veterinary Hospital for adhesion removal eight to 10 days after surgery. There are many benefits to sterilizing your pets. They cannot become pregnant and will not attract male cats/dogs. Stylized animals cannot develop uterine infections, uterine tumors or ovarian tumors. The risk of breast cancer has been greatly reduced. Generally, stylized animals make better pets and usually live longer. Neuter: An inseal is the removal of the testicles in male cats and dogs. Castrating cats and dogs is a small operation requiring general anesthesia with minimal risk. Both cats and dogs usually feel fine the day after the operation.

Dogs have stitches that need to be checked twice a day and should be sent back to Scenic Hills Veterinary Hospital for adhesion removal eight to 10 days after surgery. There are no stitches involved in a cat being inseal and generally no follow-up is required. There are many benefits to neuting pets; they are less likely to fight, roam, get lost or be hit by a car. Casttering removes the sex drive and prevents sexual frustration, plus helps to prevent prostatitis and prostate cancer. The main advantage of castration is that the neutered males cannot blame unwanted puppies or kittens. Declaw (cats): A declaw is the removal of the part of the bone that produces the claw. It is generally done on the front feet alone, which protects furniture and curtains, but leaves the cat some protection if it accidentally comes out. You must be planning to keep every decoded cat inside. Declawing cats is a small operation requiring general anesthesia with minimal risks and only minimal temporary discomfort with our procedures. Bathing is often very stressful for cats, and even some dogs. Flea control can be easily and effectively achieved without bathing the animal. Baths are available by appointment and are not scheduled every day of the week. Monday-Thursday appointments must be charged between 6 a.m.-9 a.m., and picked up between 5 p.m.-7 p.m.Friday appointments must be charged between 6 a.m.-9 a.m., and picked up between 3 p.m.-5 p.m.Saturday appointments must be dropped between 7 a.m.-9 a.m., and picked up between 2 p..m-4 p..m.You buy pet shampoos to bathe your pet at home and buy from us that are most effective. We recommend that most of your pet's diet consists of commercial pet food. Human food will not provide a balanced diet for your pet. If you choose to give your pets human food, they should occasionally be given as treats and not on a regular basis. Milk, ice, ice, foods and greasy foods should be avoided because they are difficult for pets to digest. Spoiled and rotten food should not be fed to pets because animals can suffer from food poisoning just like humans. We offer a full line of Hill's Prescription and Science Diet products for your pet. Kittens: The commercial pet food for kittens should be fed for about six months. Puppies: Commercial pet food for puppies should be fed for about six months; this will vary with the specific breed, so ask the veterinarian. Larger breeds generally switch to adult dog food when they reach a weight of about 25 pounds. Our space is reserved for medical and surgical cases; Therefore, we cannot accept entry animals unless they have medical conditions that require doctor's supervision while boarding. In these medical boarding cases, pets must be owned by one of our regular customers. A supervisor can arrange boarding for animals owned by regular customers, but the time must be set well in advance.
