The debut of the tournament then named as the FIBA 3x3 World Cup was held in August 2012 in Athens, Greece. The current champions are the United States in the men's division and China in the women's division. There are two events in the tournament; one for men and the other for women. Each team has 4 players (3 on the court and 1 substitute). In the first edition, there was a mixed event, where each team consisted of 2 men and 2 women. The match is played halfway on the court and applies every rule, as well as the 12-second shot clock and the permit required for new possession. 3x3 basketball gained Olympic status in 2017. Fiba Basic Rules releases from time to time a 3x3 addition to the official rules of basketball. The rules provide that fiba regular rules apply to all situations that are not specifically addressed in FIBA 3x3 rules. The current file, both in abbreviated version[1] and in a longer format,[2] was published in early 2016 and a video was posted on YouTube. [3] According to 2016 rules, departures from regular basketball are as follows: Each team consists of three players and one alternate. The game is played at half-court, with one basket. A special ball is used for all competitions, whether for men, women, or mixed-sex teams. His circumference is a circumference size 6 basketball (circumference 727-734 mm / 28.5-29.0 in) used in full-court women's games, but his weight is that size 7 ball (567-650 g/20.0-22.9 ounces) used in full-court men's games. Jump ball is not used to start the game. Instead, the coin toss takes place immediately before the game. The winning team can decide to seize the ball at the beginning of the game or take the first possession of a potential overtime period. There are no jump balls at any time in the game; there is also no alternating rule of ownership. In each ball situation held, the defensive team is granted possession of the ball. Each successful shot inside the arc is awarded one point, while each successful shot behind the arc is awarded two points. The game is a single period of 10 minutes with sudden death at 21 points. The winner is the first team to score 21 points at the end of 10 minutes, or the team with the highest score. A draw in regulation leads to an untimed extension, which is won by the first team to get two points Note that if the game is tied at 20 at the end of the regulation, reaching 21 does not end the game. The game starts with the defensive team exchanging the ball with the offensive team behind the arc. This exchange is also used to restart the game from any dead ball situation. If a foul is committed that leads to a non-foul team maintaining possession – ie. A 12-second shot clock is used. If the defense gets possession of the ball in the arc, steal, block or rebound, the team must move the ball behind the arc before it can take a shot. After a goal or free throw (with the exception of technical or unsportsmanlike fouls and team fouls of 10 or more), the game restarts with a player from a non-scoring team who takes the ball directly under the basket and then dribbles it or passes it to a point behind the arc. Defense is not allowed to play for the ball inside the block/charge a semicircle under the basket. The only common feature between full court substitution control and 3x3 is that it can only appear in a dead ball situation. In 3x3, the substitute can only enter from behind the end line opposite the basket and the replacement becomes official as soon as the player leaves the game, which establishes physical contact with the substitute. Unlike a full-time game, no action is required by the referees or the referees. Each team is allowed one time frame (Officials can still stop the game in case of player injury or other dangerous situations, as in the standard FIBA rules). An individual personal foul is not held. In other words, players cannot be disqualified on the basis of personal fouls. However, a player who commits two unsportsmanlike fouls is disqualified. Fouls during shooting inside the arc are awarded 1 free throw, while fouls during shooting behind the arc are awarded 2 free throws. However, team fouls 7, 8 and 9 are awarded two free throws, while team fouls of 10 or more are awarded two free throws and possession of the ball. Technical fouls (including unsportsmanlike fouls) result in two free throws plus possession of the ball, as in a standard full-time game.
