The film is the first in the Au-Fer trilogy. Jennifer Jenny Morgan (Heidi Noel Lynhart) is a young, intelligent working-class woman who just graduated from UCLA with an MBA. She's engaged to Charlie, a useless man who intends to spend his summer traveling around Europe. After a job offer falls through, she finds herself seeking and accessing a promising job ad for Oliver Caldwell's company (Gregory Harrison), Caldwell International (CCI). She gets an interview and makes her believe there's going to be a job in a copy room, that she decides to move forward with her, thinking it's going to be a foot into society. Jenny gets the job and is surprised and moved when a car and her driver show up at her doorstep, telling her to pack up and go to Paris in a few hours. Through a series of mistakes, a distraught Jenny discovers she was hired to be the O-Fer for Oliver's two children, Katie (Katie Walding) and Alex (Jake Dinwoody). Jennifer Morgan (Heidi Noel Lynhart) is an MBA looking for a job as an CEO at Oliver Caldwell (Gregory Harrison). Through a series of mistakes, she gets a job as an O-Fer for his children, Katie (Katie Walding) and Alex (Jake Dinwoody). While the kids initially play pranks on Jennifer, and try to oust her, they come to favor her over Oliver's fiancée, Vivian (Jane Sibbett), and they start fielding to get Jennifer and Oliver together. The film has amassed two sequels, Au Pair II in 2001 and Au Pair 3: Adventure in Paradise in 2009, which was released as ABC original family Movie.This film presents the following awards: Bare Your Midriff: Jenny wears one of these shirts towards the end of the film to show she is more of a children's midwife. Cool Big Sister: Later, Jenny, even though they're not related, is it for Katie and Alex. There's even a heartwarming moment when Jenny comforts Katie as she cries. (Katie also declares that she would rather be stuck with her than live with Vivian the Alpha Bitch.) One-time Eros: Vivian is of the bad camp throughout. The dog bites back: After Jenny has had enough of Katie's attitude, she tells her she's not going anywhere, but Katie's attitude is better because she won't take it anymore. Kids play stall: The kids are plotting to bring their au pair along with their widowed father in the hope that their father will dump his child-hating fiancée. Marrying the nanny: The children successfully plot to define their one-h-h-e-e-e-father with Jenny, the titular O-Fer. Spoiled brat: No Katie nor Alex are behaving well at first. One nomination. By accepting the European journey his parents offer as a graduation attendee, Charlie crosses their plan to earn an advance in the summer. So Jenny's looking for a job, hastily enough to apply for a photo clerk at Oliver Caldwell's multinational headquarters. Accidentally, Oliver hires her as a nanny for his beloved punks, Alex and Katie, who are during the summer with him, as opposed to a school year with their aunt. Business-wise, he continues to travel to Paris and Europe, eventually meeting Charlie in Austria. Jenny, coached by limo driver Nigel Kent, proves that the first nanny the kids can't smuggle. They even bond and cooperate against Oliver's mercilessly ambitious, child-hating semantile fiancée Vivian Berger, who wants to get rid of them.
