Find a slice of paradise that matches your family's price point. A children's program and a few pools are no longer enough to make a resort a top pick for families. Ideal locations, excellent programming and convenient accommodation are a must when travelling with your little ones. The resorts have it all. Winnetu Oceanside Resort, Martha's Vineyard On 51 acres of grass overlooking South Beach, Winnetu aims to bring the simplicity and old-fashioned appeal of Martha's Vineyard for families. Vintage fire truck rides, clambakes, and remote boat control races are among the favorite activities for families to do together. A free morning delivery program in summer for 3 - at 12 years is also popular; Children will swim, go treasure hunting and play games while you relax with a book or try a fitness class. Starting at the end of June, the resort also offers a three-day adventure camp for teenagers. In mid-May and September, special parent-child programs and discounts attract families with young ones. Studio rooms are available, as well as one-bedroom and four-bedroom suites with a kitchenette. winnetu.com Kingsmill Resort & Spa, Williamsburg, Virginia Set along the James River, Kingsmill has plenty of light green space for kids to play. Take the free shuttle service to the nearby Colonial Williamsburg and Busch Gardens, then return for a dip in the pool (the outdoor complex with a lazy river and slide is open Memorial Day to Labor Day, and there is an indoor pool for annual use) or go to the playground. You can also rent bicycles to explore the property or go fishing. Want some time to go to the spa or golf course? Book 5-12 year olds in a half-day session in the children's camp. Rooms with two double beds are available, but it does not cost much more to upgrade to a recently renovated one-bedroom apartment, which includes a living room with a sleeping sofa and a kitchen, so as to make some meals on your own. Kingsmill.com Loews Coronado Bay Resort & Spa, San Diego It's perfect for a city-beach combo. Set on a 15-acre private peninsula bordered by the Pacific Ocean and San Diego Bay, the resort is a short free shuttle ride from Silver Strand State Beach or a ferry ride to the downtown baseball stadium or the new children's museum. The 5-12 year old delivery club, available during the summer and other busy times of the year, is run with the Living Coast Discovery Center. will go hunting nature, build their own mini sailboats, play games like Kelp Tag, and learn about the beach ecosystem. Child protection kits, night lights and a welcome gift for the little ones are extra-special family touches. extra-special. Palm Beach Breakers, Florida If you're looking for a luxury getaway, a few resorts are just as opulent-yet family-friendly-like breakers. It is set on a 140-acre oceanfront property and has half a half-800 metres of private beach, plus heated and rescue pools. The resort offers activities for the whole family, such as fitness classes, golf clinics and a sports course. There is also a massive family entertainment centre with toys, games and a playground. Children between the ages of 3 and 12 can take part in a day or evening camp with nature walks, treasure hunters and swimming while taking part in one of the many free fitness classes (from pilates to soul stretching). Eight of the resort's nine restaurants offer children's menus, and chefs are happy for children with food allergies. thebreakers.com South Seas Island Resort, Captiva, Florida It's your dream mini shell collector! The beaches of Captiva and the nearby island of Sanibel are full of shells in many shapes and colors. The resort's sanibel school offers bombing programs and other natural-themed programs for children and families. Turf games, pool bingo, and flying kite are among many rotating family activities; The resort is also home to the dock for Captiva Dolphin Watching cruises. Accommodations include villas, apartments and traditional hotel rooms - it's a fantastic place to bring grandparents or share the space with another couple. southseas.com Tyler Place Family Resort, Highgate Springs, Vermont Picture summer camp with kids and adults each doing their own thing most of the time and you've understood the concept for the all-inclusive Tyler Place Family Resort set on 165 acres on Lake Champlain. Operated by the Tyler family since its inception in 1933, the resort automatically enrolls children in the camp with age-oriented activities from infants to adolescents. Young children, for example, can search for radishes in the garden, while preschoolers explore the meadow for feathers and pine cones. While their children are in the camp, parents can take painting classes, learn archery, practice yoga, and much more. Parents and children meet after lunch for organized activities, such as nature walks and pontoon boat rides or family fun, such as mini-golf and basketball. At night, parents dine alone or as part of a group in the adults-only restaurant. tylerplace.com Hilton Hawaiian Village, Oahu It's a land of water wonders: Located on 22 acres on Waikiki Beach in Honolulu, the resort offers plenty of space to stretch on the palm-dotted shore. In addition, families can choose from six spectacular pools (including one water slide and another designed for young children) and a five-acre saltwater lab. Hula, lei-making and ukulele lessons are also part of the activities offered. Make sure you stay overnight on a Friday night, when there is always hiltonhawaiianvillage.com Originally published in the May 2006 issue of Child magazine. Updated in July 2016 San Juan Capistrano Things to Do Great Stone Church Ruins, more commonly known as the Great Stone Church, is one of the most interesting sections of the SJC Mission. The church was laid out as a form of cross, with a bell tower, which can be seen as far as 10 miles and whose bells could be heard even further. This historic church lasted only six years, being destroyed with a magnitude of 7.0 in 1812. The earthquake also took the lives of fifty plus men who were buried in the cemetery of the old church. San Juan Capistrano Mission San Juan Capistrano Mission is a breathtaking piece of history that should not be missed while visiting Orange County, CA. Seasonal events are offered during the summer, including concerts and gallery performances. Mission San Juan Capistrano, the birthplace of Orange County, was founded more than two hundred years ago. Today it is a monument to the multi-cultural history of California, embracing its Native American, Spanish, Mexican and European heritage. The mission was originally built as an autonomous community by Spanish and Indian padres and was a center for agriculture, industry, education and religion. Los Rios District If you are looking to enjoy a country atmosphere, be sure to visit the Los Rios District. Proclaimed as the oldest neighborhood in California, Los Rios is made up of farmland and, well, dirt. Don't expect carefully lined streets, but be prepared to enjoy the tranquility and early lifestyle of the 20th century. To add adventure, visit Los Rios by train. The O'Neil Museum O'Neil Museum also know that Garcia/Pryor residence and San Juan Capistrano Historic Society Headquarters., has a small but notorious Victorian house, which happens to be the first frame houses in San Juan built between 1870 and 1880. Stories of land grabbing, conspiracy, murder and ghosts surround this building quite a little increasing the excitement of visiting here.
