This is a list of characters from My Little Pony: Friendship Is Magic, an animated TV series based on My Little Pony toyline created by the American toy company and multimedia company Hasbro. The series features characters and settings developed by Lauren Faust, who tried to create more in-depth characters than the stereotypical girly icons used in previous iterations of the franchise. The series premiered on October 10, 2010, in the United States and ended on October 12, 2019. The characters have generally been well-received by TV critics and parent groups, and are cited as one of the reasons the series' older fans, called bronies, became attracted to the show. Friendship is Magic characters appear in several spin-off franchises, including a comic book series, a Gameloft My Little Pony video game, a children's book series, a theatrical film adaptation, and a spin-off film series are re-envisioned as people in a high school setting. Hasbro's creation and capture initially hired Faust to create a pitch bible for the show, allowing her to get additional help with the arrest. [1] Faust said she was extremely skeptical about taking the job at first because she had always found shows based on girls' toys to be boring and unrelatable. [2] She was disappointed that what she thought about the games at the time was nothing like the animated shows, in which the characters, according to her, had endless tea parties, laughed over nothing and defeated villains either sharing with them or crying. With the opportunity to work on my little pony, one of her favorite childhood toys,[3] she hoped to prove that cartoons about girls don't have to be a puddle of smoosy, cutesy-wootsy, goody-two-shoeness. [2] To do this, it incorporated many elements into the demonstration that undermined the girls, such as different personalities, character flaws and personality disorders, the message that friends can be different and can get into arguments but still be friends, and the idea that girls shouldn't be constrained by what others say they can or can't do. [2] Elements of characters' personalities and display display they were based on her own childhood fantasy of pony adventures, partly inspired by the animated shows that her siblings would watch while growing up, as Transformers and GI Joe.[4] Faust still aims for the characters to be relatable characters, using stereotypical images of girliness to broaden the appeal of characters to young female audiences. [5] Main characters The Mane Six My Little Pony: Friendship Is Magic focuses on six main pony characters, identified as the Mane Six,[6] a group of friends gathered from The Elements of Harmony, a set of six mystical jewels and an unstoppable force of good[7] used to defend Equestria against powerful threats. A seventh main character, Spike, acts as a foil for the Six Manes in terms of personality. Each pony character was designed to represent a different element and positive aspect of friendship-honesty (Applejack), kindness (Fluttershy), laughter (Pinkie Pie), generosity (Rarity), and faith (Rainbow Dash)-coming together to form the sixth element of magic (Twilight Sparkle). Her cutie badge, a six-pointed star, Her talent for magic and her love of books and knowledge, and the five smaller stars shows that her destiny is intertwined with her friends. Twilight is depicted in the first three seasons as as unicorn with pink ribbed mane indigo, and as a winged unicorn named alicorn after the thirteenth and final episode of the third season, Magical Mystery Cure. Twilight's most defining character is its humility. She is a natural-born leader, an intelligent and conscientious scholar, wise beyond her years, with an avid love of learning and scientific discoveries. Her skills in her magical rival that of Star Swirl the Bearded, having already mastered several advanced spells before her rise to alicornhood. She is also prone to suffer from nerve damage when faced with difficult problems or things beyond her understanding, although she gradually overcomes this habit in the last season. Twilight begins the story as a protégé of Princess Celestia, who tasks by studying the magical qualities of friendship and reporting her findings. Twilight loathes her mission at the premiere of the two-part series because of her isolation in her obsession with books, but she comes to form strong friendships with the rest of the Mane Six, which she realizes is key to harnessing the elements of harmony. She resides with Spike's assistant and pet owl Owlowiscious at the Oak Ponyville Golden Library, where she also serves as the city's librarian. [9] At the end of the third season, Twilight's apprenticeship in Princess Celestia ends when he reverses an ancient spell by creating new magic based on the studies of friendship, turns into an alicorn, and is crowned a princess. At the end of the fourth season, Twilight becomes the princess of friendship, and begins spreading friendship throughout Equestria with her friends. in season 8, Twilight runs a newly created School of Friendship to teach ponies and creatures form Equestria before the departure of Princess Celestia and Princess Luna. At the end of the show, Twilight is crowned the new governor of Equestria and establishes the Friendship Council to maintain her relationship with her friends over the years. Aspects and forms Twilight's design differs slightly from her pony counterpart: she wears thick black glasses, her hair is tied into a bun, and the pink highlight on her hair is wider than the pink highlight on the Twilight pony's mane. Like her horse, Human Twilight is educated and presents reasonable problem solving, having bypassed two grades in elementary school, and is the youngest student in her school. It has great interest in knowledge and science, to be able to create complex scientific devices devices solve complex mathematical equations, and her intellect competes with that of Sunset Shimmer. Unlike her pony counterpart, Human Twilight is a wallflower, acting very nervous and shy around others, especially the edgy students of Crystal Prep. Her evil alter ego, Midnight Sparkle, appears for the first time at the Friendship Games. It haunts her in her nightmares and gives her intense anxiety in Legend of Everfree. However, with the help of her friends, she is able to overcome her fear of Midnight Sparkle and gain control of her magic. Spike Voiced by a young Twilight Sparkle as part of her entrance exams for Celestia's academy; was raised among the twilight family as her adopted younger brother. Spike fulfills the role of twilight number one assistant in which he is so named for his faith and ability to help Twilight solve problems and learn lessons. It also has a crush on rarity, an insatiable appetite for sparkly gems, and the ability to send letters through dragon's fiery breath. In the eleventh episode of season 8 Molt Down, he gains feathers after going through molting. At the end of the show, he becomes a royal adviser to Twilight. Spike acts as a foil to Twilight and its friends in terms of personality, size and shape that provides many opportunities to explore this difference in stories. Faust envisioned the character as the sensitive little boy who has many sisters and just seems to get along better with girls. [10] On Spike's role as a dragon underdog living among ponies, Meghan McCarthy says, She tries to figure out who he is. What besides being a twilight assistant is his role in this world? I think it really reflects how everyone feels at some point in their lives.' [11] Applejack voiced by Ashleigh Ball Applejack is an orange, hard-working pony of the earth with blond hair. Her cutie brand, a trio of apples, represents her talent for agriculture and her love for her family. It is described as a gal farm that sports a cowboy hat and lasso and speaks with a Southern accent. She works as an apple farmer in the sweet apple acre orchard in Ponyville, using her power to buck apples from trees. She lives with her grandmother Grandma Smith, her older brother Big McIntosh, apple bloom's younger sister, and her pet border collie Winona. Applejack's parents - Bright Mac (voiced by Bill Newton) and pear butter (expressed from Felicia Day), first seen in seven thirteenth episode, The Perfect Pear - they're dead. Applejack is honest, courageous, honest and the down-to-earth mane six; He's a reliable friend who's optimistic and has good judgment. She is also very keen to please and has a stubborn persona, with many episodes focused on her interaction with the Flim-Flam Brothers who exploit her exploits or focusing on taking on the herculean project. Author Begin says that her apple-themed cutie brand not only represents her name, but also is a symbol of the down-home simplicity found in a classic and common fruit. When asked if Applejack and Rainbow Dash were romantically involved in the future setting of The Last Problem, series supervisor Jim Miller replied It's on the side of the individual viewer to decide what these two are to each other. [12] The rainbow-colored maite and tail. Her cutie badge, a rainbow-colored lightning bolt with a cloud, represents her talent for speed and her obsession with adventure. Her goal at the beginning of the series is to unite her heroes, the elite team of Wonderbolts. In the seventh episode of the fourth season, Testing 1, 2, 3, becomes a reservist, and in the seventh episode of season six, Newbie Dash, becomes a full-time member. It helps other pegasi manage the weather around Ponyville and spends time practicing flight maneuvers such as the Sonic Rainbow, a rainbow-colored sonic boom; shown in the twenty-third episode of season one The Cutie Mark Chronicles that the first Sonic Rainbow Dash as a poully evoked a chain of events that produced cutie marks of the Mane Six's. He lives with a propeller-mounted pet tortoise named Tank in a floating condominium of clouds called Cloudominium, which is sparingly seen on the show because it doesn't sit still for long, according to director Jim Miller. Faust struggled to find a suitable aspect to Rainbow Dash's Harmony Element, seeing the character as self-absorbed and rather irresponsible. Eventually he settled on the element of faith because it brought out the positive traits [of the rainbow dash]. [8] When asked if Applejack and Rainbow Dash were romantically involved in the future setting of The Last Problem, series supervisor Jim Miller replied it's up to the individual viewer to decide what these two are to each other. [12] Pinkie Pie Voiced by Andrea Libman, Singing Voice by Shannon Chan-Kent[Note 1] Pinkie Pie (full name Pinkamena Diane Pie) is a pink overactive land pony. Her cutie badge, a trio of balloons, represents her talent for spreading hope and joy, and her desire to entertain her friends. He is a party designer at Sugarcube Corner, a bakery and pastry shop that looks like a gingerbread house, and owns a toothless pet alligator it's called Gummy. A comic relief character who was brought up on a dreary rock farm, Pinkie is defined as a hard-working motivating to see people he loves smile and relieve them of anxiety by accidentally throwing parties and acting as outlandish as possible; but has a lack of trust and fear of fear rejected by others. Pinkie is a source of much of the series' humor, and several of the show's wacky gags are reserved exclusively for her (running gags include breaking the fourth wall and appearing suddenly in unexpected places, as well as the ability to predict future events through various body reactions, which she calls the Pinkie Sense). While Pinkie seems to be the naïve party animal of the group, he also displays admirable skill in science and engineering. In The Swarm of the Century, he devised a technical solution to Ponyville's pollution problems in a scenario where magic had failed, and built a flying machine to keep up with Rainbow Dash in the Griffon episode the Brush Off. As the creative team became more comfortable with Pinkie's character and humor, she became truly over-the-top weird and bordering on the episode or scene, Pinkie's friends alternate between dissatisfaction and enjoyment of her company, both ignoring her when she tries to talk to them, but doing things with her, like pulling pranks or playing buckball. In the future scene of The Last Problem, Pinkie appears to be married to Cheese Sandwich with a child named Li'l Cheese. Rarity Voiced by Tabitha St. Germain, singing voice by Kazumi Evans Rarity is a white glowing unicorn with a curled violet learned. Her cutie brand, a trio of diamonds, represents her talent for searching for gems and her love of art and beauty. She is a ladylike fashionista and entrepreneur who speaks with a Mid-Atlantic accent and runs a franchise of flagship brand stores throughout Equestria; operates from a haute couture salon in Ponyville called Carousel Boutique. Despite her arrogant and melodramatic tendencies, she has a generous spirit and tries to create dresses that capture the inner beauty of their users. He owns a pet Persian cat called Opalescence who is usually nicknamed Opal, and has a younger sister named Sweetie Belle. Faust's original idea for The Element of Harmony of Rarity was an inspiration, but it changed to generosity after the production team deemed the former too much of a thinker, especially for children. Faust was pleased with the change, saying it really helped pull [rarity] away from the stereotypical, disliked debutante. [8] It states Hepburn as her greatest influence on rarity,[14] and also says that Tabitha St. Germain's histronic performance added a humor to the rarity that was unexpected and wonderful. [15] Fluttershy Voiced by Andrea Libman Fluttershy is a yellow shy and timid pegasus with pink hair. Her cutie brand, a trio of butterflies, represents her talent as an animal caregiver and her love for nature. True Her name is defined by her shy sweetness; soft, whispery voice. and tender, cultivating nature, as described by the author Begin. It has a unique affinity for animals that allows it to communicate with them. She lives in a secluded meadow cottage in Ponyville, where she cares for forest creatures such as conniving and deliberate pet rabbit Angel Bunny. In many episodes, Fluttershy presents a tough personality that emerges whenever a friend or animal is harmed, unlike her normally timid and mildly-manned self. Her most prominent ability, gaze, causes every creature that meets her gaze to become powerless and moved to meekness while in force. Faust enjoyed writing about Fluttershy most of the show's characters because of her relatable struggles with fear, which Faust says brings potential not only for great storytelling, but [for] great film production. [13] When asked if Fluttershy and Discord were romantically involved in the future arrangement of the last problem, Jim Miller replied that he was open to interpretation. [16] Recurring characters The royal family are the highest ponies in the equestrian nation. The novel Twilight Sparkle and the Crystal Heart Spell stipulates that The Alicorn Princesses are a special pony breed able to harness the magical powers of the Unicorns, the flying abilities of Pegasi, and the power of a good, true heart of an Earth pony. [17] Faust states that Celeste incorporates the characteristics of all three [pony species]. Princess Celestia Voiced by Nicole Oliver Princess Celestia is a white alicorn, governor of Equestria and his former twilight mentor. Celestia has ruled Equestria for over a thousand years, and uses her magic to raise the moon to secure a night and day cycle. He is perhaps the most beloved creature in the world, being a staunch supporter of international peace, kindness and cooperation. Very little of her past before Celeste's victory over Discord is known, except that she and Luna discovered the Elements of Harmony. With these artifacts and their bearers, Princess Celeste has secured millennia of relative peace for a nation. Its position as a alicorn is considered a symbol of harmony between unicorns, pegasus and land ponies. [18] She guided twilight as she was poully, leading to her eventual destiny as Princess. During season 9, Celestia and Luna begin to withdraw from the Equestria decision and for Twilight to take their place. At the end of the show, after Twilight was crowned the new ruler of Equestria, Celestia and Luna retired to the Silver Shoals. Faust's original idea of Celeste was queen, not princess, but it changed to Princess, but it changed to Princess because Hasbro thought that girls assume that queens are evil [...] and princesses are good, and that 'the perceived youth of a princess is preferable to consumers'. [19] Princess Luna voiced by Tabitha Saint-Germain, singing voice from Kazumi Evans (Kingdom of Twilight) and Aloma Steele (A Hearth's Warming Tail onwards) Princess Luna is a dark blue alicorn and the younger sister of Princess Celestia. She serves as co-governor of Equestria with Celeste, using her magic to raise the moon and preserve the dreams of her subjects during the night. A thousand years ago, Luna became bitter ness turned into a Moon Nightmare and she tried to create eternal night throughout Equestria. Celeste reluctantly used the Elements of Harmony to banish her to the moon, and took responsibility for lifting both the sun and the moon and maintaining harmony in Equestria. Nightmare Moon first appears in the season two premiere of Friendship is Magic when she escapes the moon and tries to execute her plan. Nightmare Moon and turn her back on Luna, who reconciles with her sister and continues her royal duties. During season 9, Celestia and Luna retired to the Silver Shoals. Several episodes depict Luna's difficulty living in the shadow of her older sister, such as adapting to modern riding customs and repairing her public image. [20] Shining Armor); Britt McKeelip (Princess Cadance); Tabitha St. Germain (Fleury Heart)[21] Shining Armor is the older brother of Twilight and the former captain of the Royal Guard Canterlot, and Princess Mi Amore Cadenza) is Alicorn's wife Shining Armor, and even the nicknames of Big Brother Best Friend Forever (B.B.B.F.F.), and with Candance because he was the best colt-sitter he ever had. Later in the third season, Shining Armor and Cadance because he was the best colt-sitter he ever had. Later in the third season, Shining Armor and Cadance because he was the best colt-sitter he ever had. Later in the third season, Shining Armor and Cadance because he was the best colt-sitter he ever had. turmoil. Princess Celeste and Princess Luna declared that the birth of an alicorn is something Equestria has never seen and that it was even beyond their understanding. The Cutie Mark Crusaders is a club made up of Apple Bloom, Applejack and Big McIntosh's youngest Sweet Belle, younger sister of Rarity, and Scootaloo, a pegasus poully who is able to fly and idolise Rainbow Dash. After the fillies met and became friends in the twelfth episode of the first season, Call of the Season, Call of the Lost Mark finally earned their cutie marks, with their talents to help other ponies discover their talents. In the twelfth episode of season 8, Marks for Effort, they became teachers for the School of Friendship. Apple Bloom (voiced by Michelle Creber) - Applejack and sassy younger sister Big McIntosh formulates and spearheads most of Cutie Mark Crisaders' missions. [23] Sweet Belle (voiced by Claire Corlett, singing voice for seasons 1-3 by Michelle Creber) - the kind-hearted and innocent younger sister of rarity. Scootaloo (voiced by Madeleine Peters) - A pegasus filly who suffers from an inability to fly, and instead uses her wings to push her specially designed scooter. She idolizes Rainbow Dash as an older sister figure, is president of the Wonderbolt Dash fanclub, and often tries to emulate The Rainbow Dash loves and mentors Scootaloo, calling her the most awesome sister child ever. [23] Scootaloo lives with her aunt Holiday (voiced by Jackie Blackmore), a pony of the earth, and Aunt Lofty (voiced by Saffron Henderson), a pegasus, while her parents, Snap Shutter (voiced by Bill Newton), her father's pony land and Aunt Holiday's younger brother, and Mane Allgood (voiced by Emily Tennant), her mother, are world-traveling adventurers who study exotic plants and creatures for the advancement of science and medicine. Honorary MPs In addition to the main trio, there are others who are admitted to Cutie Mark Crisaders throughout the series: Babs Seed (voiced by Brynna Drummond) - A tough-talkin' Apple cousin from Manehattan,[23] debuts in the fourth episode of the third season, One Bad Apple. The character was created as an empty bully side of Cutie Mark Crusaders whose behavior was the result of an insecurity that the Crusaders could relate to and ultimately help her overcome. It joins the Crusaders and is the club's own branch in Manehattan because, according to McCarthy, we have our three Crusaders in Ponyville and did not want to add a permanent fourth. [23] Babs wins cutie her as a hairstylist in the fourth episode of the fifth season of Bloom & amp; Goom. Gabby (voiced by Erin Mathews) - A friendly and enthusiastic female griffon. Introduced as a social outcast by griffon stone, joins the Crusaders at the end of its debut in the nineteenth of season six The error in our Cutie Marks, after its failed attempts to obtain its own cutie mark. He returns in the nineteenth episode of season nine, Dragon Dropped, when he appears to have become pen-pals with Spike. Friends and Allies Discord, a character based on his television role as Q from Star Trek: The Next Generation. Voiced by John de Lancie Discord is a draconequus (a dragon-like creature with body parts from different animals) and the spirit of chaos and disharmony. He first appeared in the premiere of the second season, The Return of Harmony. Princess Celestia and Princess Luna have previously opposed him for torturing ponies with his reality-bending powers and similarly confronted Twilight and her friends during the premiere; both times, the ponies use the Elements of Harmony to turn it into stone. In the tenth episode of the third season, Keep Calm and Flutter On, Discord is once again freed from his stone incarceration by Twilight and her friends under the command of Princess Celestia to reform him, which succeeds after Fluttershy makes him a friend. After that, she appears in subsequent episodes as a reluctant ally of Twilight and her friends, occasionally still causing a stir while struggling to become their best friend. [24] When asked if Fluttershy and Discord were romantically involved in the future arrangement of the last problem, Jim Miller replied that he was open to interpretation. [16] Faust based discord's character on Q, an almighty con man played by John de Lancie in Star Trek: The Next Generation. The production team considered casting a soundalike of de Lancie to voice the character, and was surprised to learn that de Lancie himself was available. [25] The creative team developed Discord as the one character who could break all the rules of the show, with its production putting more modernized or modern pop culture references than usual in the fantasy storybook setting of the series. [26] [27] He was not meant to have a recurring role [26] according to McCarthy, 'reforming' allows him to tell new stories with his character. He will not always be the reliable ally instead of the known enemy. [24] Author Begin commented on the chaotic attitudes that accompany the character, such as its home dimension called Chaosville, likening them to Salvador Dali's dream-inspired paintings. [28] The Great McIntosh voiced by Peter New Big McIntosh (commonly called the Big Mac) is Apple Bloom's older brother. He doesn't talk much, and. speaks saying eeyup and nope. [29] Starting with the eighth episode of the seventh season, Hard to Say Anything, begins a romantic relationship with Sugar Belle, and soon wed in the twenty-third episode of season nine, The Big Mac Question. Grandma Smith Voiced by Tabitha St. Germain Grandma Smith is Apple Bloom, and and McIntosh's paternal grandmother. He is portrayed as a wise matriarch who has a sharp wit and a vague memory, and said to be one of Ponyville's first settlers. [29] Starlight Glimmer voiced by Kelly Sheridan Starlight Glimmer is a unicorn who is very talented in magic as twilight. She first appeared in the premiere of the fifth season Of Cutie Map, when she was the founder and leader of a village where she wishes to build a perfectly equal society by magically removing the cutie marks of other ponies, because she believes that differences cause disharmony between friends, until Twilight and her friends came to her village and destroyed everything she built. She returns in the season two finale, The Cutie Re-Mark to get revenge on Twilight and her friends by time traveling back to the past and prevent their friendship from happening by stopping Rainbow. Twilight and Spike followed after her, but trapped in a loop of time as they repeatedly fail to stop her from changing past. When they tried to show her how her actions were destroying Equestria, Starlight refuses to believe them and shows them how she was separated from her friend Sunburst on the day she earned the cutie's mark and studied magic in Canterlot, which sent her down her evil path. But Twilight persuaded Starlight to change her ways and make new friends, and even takes her as her student. In season six, Starlight begins to learn about friendship as a Twilight student, until he graduates in season seven, after defeating Queen Chrysalis and bringing harmony to the Eriendship School to help students with their problems. Later in the twentieth episode of season nine, A Horse Shoe-In, becomes the school's new headmare as Twilight was leaving to rule Equestria. According to Miller, Starlight's design was chosen to parallel her role as a proto-Twilight character. [30] Its original name during production was Aurora Flash, which was changed due to the Walt Disney company's trademark of the name Aurora. [31] The young six the young six[32] are six teenage creatures who attend as students at the school of friendship run by Twilight and her friends. They consist of: Smolder (voiced by Shannon Chan-Kent) - An arrogant and competitive dragon. She was initially resistant to the idea of friendship, until she gets to meet her new friends, and secretly gets like cute things like dresses, makeup, and tea parties. In the ninth episode of season 9, Sweet and Smoky, he is revealed to be his younger sister Ocellus (voiced by Devyn Dalton) - A shy and studied transformational who has the ability to change her appearance to that of other creatures, like the other metamorphics. Silverstream (voiced by Lauren Jackson) - Novo's hyperactive queen which can alternate between the forms of a hippogriff and a seapony. She is similar to her cousin, Princess Skystar, in terms of personality, and has shown interest in the smallest things like stairs and indoor plumbing. Yona (voiced by Katrina Salisbury) - A friendly and clumsy yak. Yona seems to be irritable, but she has her own vulnerabilities, including always referring to herself in a third person. Being a yak, Yona is one of the strongest members of the New Six, often using her strength to help. In the final episode of the series, an older Yona appears to run Carousel Boutique alongside Sandbar. Gallus (voiced by Gavin Langelo) - A sarcastic griffon. Initially hostile to others, Gallos becomes more friendly and warm, while maintaining his sarcastic personality. He turns out to be claustrophobic, and he's actually an orphan. Sandbar (voiced by Vincent Tong) - A loose earth pony. He usually serves as a straight man to compensate for the more eccentric personalities of his friends. Other characters by region Most recurring characters established within the fictional universe of the TV series expand and are more evident in comics, presented with complex, multi-story arcs. Comics provide stories based on the established fictional universe of the TV show. the comic faithfully follows the canon show, but the show does not technically follow canon comics. [33] [34] Although the comic book, like the show, is aimed at young children, writers and artists have consistently taken creative risks, including expanding Sombra's backstory, introducing Scootaloo aunts as a married LGBT couple, and more. [35] Equestrian characters from the area Main article: Equestrian characters from the area Main article: Equestrian characters Chancellor Neighbory (voiced by Maurice LaMarche) - The unicorn head of the Equestria Education Association (EEA) which strictly regulates schools and colleges within Equestria. Neighbor is strict and conservative, preferring to non-ponies as creatures or savages in a repulsive way. He has a fascist and ionistic worldview, is critical of Princess Twilight's reform agenda to expand higher education outside the borders of Equestria, and has refused accreditation in light of Mane Six's questionable qualifications for the teaching profession. In particular, it openly disapproves of the Twilight Friendship School without having the inclusion of non-pony creatures, which it considers a foolish act that threatens Equestria's national security. It's not until the events of School Raze's eight-part season finale after being rescued by the Young Six that he begins to change his mind about non-pony creatures. The city's unique locales were designed to reflect their characters, while the city's overall style was heavily influenced by the Dutch Pennsylvania design, steampunk artwork, and European and Bavarian folklore. [36] The city also incorporates pony design elements such as petals, hay balls, and troughs. [37] Mayor Mare (voiced by Cathy Weseluck) - The Mayor of Pony Land of Ponyville. [38] The cake family - Mr. Carrot Cake (voiced by Brian Drummond) and Mrs. Cup Cake (voiced by Tabitha St. Germain) are the landowners of Pinkie Pie. They run catering services around Ponyville, specializing in baked goods and sweets. In the thirteenth episode of the second season of Baby Cakes, Ms. Cake gives birth to their twin baby foals, Pound Cake (voiced by St. Germain), their son Pegasus, and pumpkin cake (voiced by Andrea Libman), their unicorn daughter. [38] Cheerie (voiced by Nicole Oliver) - The land pony teacher at Ponyville School. [38] Snips and Snails (voiced by St. Germain), their unicorn colts that create upheaval in Ponyville. [39] Diamond Tiara and Silver Spoon (voiced by Chantal Strand and Shannon Chan-Kent) - Two rich, snobbish ponies of earth fillies teasing the Cutie Mark Crisaders for not having their cutie marks, calling them empty sides. [39] It is presented in the eighteenth episode of season five, Crusaders of the Lost Mark that tiara's diamond behavior stems from her anxiety about meeting the expectations of her father Filthy Rich (voiced by Brian Drummond) and the spoiled rich mother (expressed by the strand). By the end of the episode, she and Silver Spoon are making peace with the Crusaders. Pipsqueak (voiced by William Lawrenson in Luna Eclipsed and Graham Verchere in all other appearances) - A pinto land pony colt who hails from Trottingham, a place outside Ponyville.
