The Five Letters record historical facts that show the close relationship between God and humanity. The content of the Books of Five Cards establishes basic beliefs: – There is a powerful God who creates the universe and humanity. He's unique and he's alive. – God chose Abraham's father to lead the Israelites, giving them the promised land to be a family. – Through elected leaders, God promulgates the Law and saves the people from hostility. The Israelites' mission was to worship one God and keep them. 2. History Books History books record the history of the Israelites' ups and downs to exude credibility: when Israel worships God and is faithful to the Law, they are blessed by God and help them win over the enemy. On the contrary, when they do not keep the Law, they forget God, they will be in trouble and be slaves to foreigners. 3. Teaching Books Teaching books are intended to convey the life experiences of holy men to help the people recognize what is right and wisdom according to the Law. In addition, through the Book of the Holy Bay, the Saints also teach readers prayers to God. 4. The Book of The Prophets are those who are called of God to speak the word of God and speak in the name of God. The Prophets not only announce the message verbally, but also with their lives. Because of these honest words, they are hated, beaten, humiliated, imprisoned, humiliated, and killed. The Book of The Prophets is a constant call for the Israelites to amend their lives and return to God. At the same time, through these books, the Prophets also informed God's people that they would give a Savior to mankind. The content of the Old Testament has many forbidden details for things that will take place and be unraveled in the New Testament. What is written in the Old Testament is also the Word of God and is used by the Church in service. Therefore, we need to learn and embrace the Old Testament with a serious and respectful attitude. Jews and Christians share the same term Bible, although they are ingested by the number of Biblical scriptures are a way to select and recognize which books are considered sacred. These texts are often written during the formation of forms of Jewish and Christian beliefs; the leaders of these communities believe that these are God-inspired books to express the story of the supremacy of the relationship between God and his people. The Jews called their Bible Tanakh, consisting of 24 books, divided into three parts: the Book of the Law of the Covenant (Torá), the Book of the Prophets (Nevi'im) and the Book of Literature (Ketuvim). The Christian Bible consists of the Old Testament (meaning Old Covenant) and the New Testament (meaning New Covenant). The Old Testament is a successor to Tanakh, divided into groups of books: the Five Letters, History, Messengers, and Teachings; and the New Testament are texts written by Jesus' disciples (and his heirs) with content related to his life. The New Testament consists of 27 volumes, which were fixed in the 4th century and accepted by most Christian churches. These include the gospel, the Book of Apostles, Paul's letters, letters from other apostles, and the book of Revelation. Although Tanakh consists of 24 books, Resistance groups count as 39. The Catholic Church and other Christian churches had a few more books in the Old Testament, taken from the Jewish version of the 1970s (Septuagint) because they kept them after they were withdrawn by Protestant reformers. The Bible is the best-selling book of all time, estimated to have an additional 100 million copies per year, and has made a major influence on literature and history, especially in the West, where it was the first book to be printed in bulk. The Bible is probably the most influential book in human history. The number of biblical prints exceeds all other books. The Jewish Bible, as well as the Christian Bible, are often translated into more languages than any other book. The entire Bible, or part of it, has been translated into more than 2,100 languages of 90% of the world's population. Since 1815, an estimated 5 billion complete biblical editions or important parts of the Bible have been distributed, making it the best-selling book of all time. The term Bible is also used for sacred texts of non-Jewish beliefs non-Christian; so Guru Granth Sahib is often used to name the Sikh Bible. Many educators find that the Christian Bible has firmly rooted in Western culture whether anyone believes it or not, otherwise familiar with the values and teachings of the Bible will become culturally ignorant.
