When I moved to Lowell in January 2015, I really didn't know what to expect. But what soon struck me was the stark contrast between my own positive experiences in the community, and my Boston friends perspective Lowell despite having never experienced the community themselves. I decided that more people needed to see Lowell as I saw, and thus soon Out in Lowell was launched on Instagram. Out in Lowell is a social media outlet to explore everything locally. With every photograph, I'm there behind my iPhone in real time. I think photography is still such an incredibly powerful way to tell a story, often in a way that words can't. I hope to share Lowell's story with more people, but I also hope to simply bring our society closer together. Lowell is on a journey, and we're all part of it. Join online storytelling by tagging your photos with #outinlowell. PS - You may be wondering, What is it with the goat? Go read the HOWL story called Home on the Rank: Meet Lowell Goat. You won't regret it. Interested in going out in Lowell? I put together your upcoming weekend schedule, which includes some of my favorite places in the city. Get out of here! Friday Sizzling Kitchen Dinner at Sizzling Kitchen 478 Merrimack St. You won't be disappointed with dinner at Sizzling Kitchen. Not only is their food incredible, their customer service is excellent too. You can tell the owners really care about their customers. I highly recommend Pad Thai or Bibimbap. I will get Sizzling Dry Chicken next time I visit. Oh, and they have more than a dozen types of homemade macaroni! Drinks at Cobblestone's 91 Dutton St. After dinner, head over to the Cobblestones and have a few beers. I like the bar here because of various beers on tap, and they often have Lowell's own Navigation Brewing Co. You also can't go wrong with their old-fashioned jukebox. Saturday River Walk Mornings on riverwalk foot of John St, behind Boarding House Park I like to wake up Saturday morning and drive off all those beer calories with a drive along the Merrimack River. The Lowell Riverwalk offers some pretty amazing views like rival Charles River Bike Path in Boston, but without the crowded roads. Art and lunch at UnchARTed 103 Market St. You will soon be hungry for your run or walk along the Riverwalk, so I recommend taking a bite to eat at UnchARTed. This place is so unique; it is an art gallery with a café and a beer/wine bar. They also have a performance space for musicians. Grab a slice of pizza and enjoy the exhibitions. Sweet Lydia's Dessert at Sweet Lydia's 160 Merrimack St. If you have a sweet tooth like me, then grab an early afternoon snack from Sweet Lydia's, located just around the corner from UnchARTed. The shop is known for its handmade marshmallow goods, but Become obsessed with The Alex Monster, a chocolate candy bar filled with cookie dough and caramel. Canal Boat Tour National Park Visitor's Center, 246 Market St. Starting Memorial Day weekend, Lowell National Historical Park Service will resume its canal boat trips. This is great way to learn more about Lowell's unique history on a sunny afternoon. Dinner at 1981 Ramen Bar 129 Merrimack St. Finish your Saturday with some delicious ramen from the 1981 Ramen Bar. Don't skip appetizers here. I recommend starting with braised short ribs and fontina cheese arancini, followed by a large bowl of Tonkotsu ramen for your main course. Sunday Coffee & Cotton Wake up at Coffee and Cotton Mill No. 5, 250 Jackson St., 4th fl. I love to roll out of bed on Sunday morning and on my way over to coffee and cotton. There's something special about this place that makes it my favorite place in Lowell. Maybe it's the countless Edison light bulbs that hang from the ceiling, or irresistible blueberry scones, or the perfect lattes, or maybe just all of the above. It is much more than a café: It's a second home. The farm market at Mill no. 5 After receiving your caffeine fix, explore the Farm Market at Mill no. 5 from 11 am to 3 pm, which features live music, fresh produce, art and countless local vendors and shops. I recommend catching a movie at The Luna Theater before heading out. Parking Garage View Leo A. Roy Garage, 100 Market St. One of my favorite aspects of Lowell is architecture. The historic brickworks and the character they radiate are one of the things that first drew me to Lowell. If you are looking for a good view of the city or want to watch the sunset, find your way to a parking garage and take the stairs to the top floor. I recommend Leo A. Roy Garage on Market St. While far from conventional, some of my favorite photographs were taken from the top of a parking garage.
