Neal Administration Building Del Valle Opportunity Center Del Valle Independent School District (VISD) is a public school district in the Del Valle community area of Travis County, Texas, United States. [1] The school district serves much of southeastern Travis County. [2] Embedded communities in the district include Creedmoor, Webberville, most of Mustang Ridge, and parts of Austin. The site designated by the Garfield Census and the unincorporated communities Elroy, Hornsby Bend and Pilot Knob are also located in the district. [3] In 2013[update] VISD covers 38.2 square miles (99 km2) of land in the city of Austin, which represents 12% of the city's territory. In 2019, the school district had a four-year graduation rate of 92.4%. [5] History This section needs expansion. You can help by adding to it. (August 2016) Initially, the facilities of The Colorado Common School District Number 36 were at the intersection of U.S. Highway 183 and Texas State Highway 71. In 1952, the city of Austin annexed about a third of the district's territory, including Montopolis and Austin Country Club. Because the existing school buildings were located on that property, the district had to find a new location for its schools. Popham Elementary School opened opposite Bergstrom Air Base; when Bergstrom was in operation, the district served the children who lived on the base. At that point the district taught classes one to eight. High school students attended the Austin Independent School District. [3] In 1954, the school district annexed the Dry Creek School District. The district annexed the Pilot Knob districts in 1956. During that year, Del Valle Junior-Senior High School, serving grades seven to ten, opened. Grade 11 appeared in 1957, and grade 12 appeared in 1958. In 1958 the sports stadium, Cardinal Field, was opened, followed by a field house in 1962. A construction program passed in the school year 1959-1960 leads to the opening of a new high school. The Joint School District of Elroy merged into the Colorado Joint School District in 1961, forming the largest common school district in the state. In April 1963, the school district changed its name to the Independent #910 Del Valle. In September 1966 the district annexed the common school district of Creedmoor #41. In 1967, the hornsby-Dunlap joint school district was annexed. [3] Smith Elementary School and a secondary school were opened on the del Valle High School campus website in 1972. Within the framework of the Hillcrest Elementary school year open. Baty opened following a bond program in 1984. [3] When the city of Austin wanted to build Austin-Bergstrom International Airport in an area that housed Del Valle's high school and three elementary schools, voters approved a $38.1 million link to build the schools in a new location. [6] Baty Elementary School, Hillcrest Elementary School, Popham Elementary School and Del Valle High School moved out. [3] Superintendent Bernard Blanchard retired in 2011.
