Live Music Nightlfe Food & Drink Festival Concert If you're looking for somewhere to have a great night on South Broadway, then you need to check out the renovated Globe Theatre, near 7th Street LA. Yes, it's usually a theatre, but since the 2015 reshud, it's also an event venue, hosting everything from regular club nights to orchestral performances. It is the oldest theater still in operation in the district, and the first legal Broadway theater. And, with a pedigree like that, it certainly attracts fair share of celebrities. The decoration remains true to the original 1913 design, maintaining stunning marble staircases, opera and flower boxes and beautiful cherubs everywhere, preserved from the original designs of Alfred Rosenheim. Light is the state of the art, and depending on the type of event you are attending, you will feel immersed in the whole experience. The main club nights focus on building great energy, with international DJs playing live, open spaces for dancing and socialling, and lots of delicious cocktails and bottles. Dining services scale from the full bar all the way to full bottle service. And if you want an even more extravagant night, they have a VIP lounge and presidential balcony available to rent most nights. The Globe Theater Club offers a wide range of expert events. One such event is a burlesque two-week show. But this is not a slimy strip club event. Going back to the golden age of cabaret and striptem, it has beautifully skilled and creative dancers, with an immense theatrical presence and costume design that will awe you. They also have circus activities, acrobatics, live bands, etc. If you're looking for the perfect place to celebrate a birthday, launch a product, or host any other large-scale event, this is the perfect place. It Full service capacity, 1722 guests on three levels, and accessibility options. And many of their regular behaviors and expertise are available Rent for your event, make it very quick and simple to plan a party on top for all your friends, loved ones, or colleagues. Because of what a different location it is, you will naturally need to book a room. If you appear on the day they can be sold out, they may have a special event or a private party, or they can even be set up for a film crew to record. Even if you're on the guest list, you may be turned away if you show up on the wrong day. So be sure to make a reservation, not only for entrance, but also for any service you will need, as there is no guarantee that you will be able to receive last-minute bottle service or VIP lounge access. As far as dress code is concerned, it is smart casual for most nights, but some expert events require more formal dress, and some may require specific clothing, such as fancy dress, or optional black tie. So be sure to check back what the dress code is for the night you are attending. Where is the Globe Theatre? Three years later, the name was changed to Regent, as we still know it today. After decades of being a mill and adult film venue, the theater closed in 2000, only to lie dod for years. Six years later, developer Tom Gilmore bought the property, using it as an art and performing space regularly for the monthly Fifth Night Downtown Art Walk. Known for its s steep floors, proscenium arches and gothic-inspired ceilings, The Regent is a real relic and the last remaining historic cinema on Downtown LA's Main Street. Music promoter Mitchell Frank, along with Artist and Recreation, LLC and Knitting Factory Entertainment Inc., took over the lease in 2012 and restored the theater to its former glory. Improvements include an update on all interiors, a second mezzanine floor to see the killer as well as a pizzeria (Prufrock Pizzeria) and bar (The Love Song). The Regent Theatre hosts concerts, themed dance nights, theatrical performances, film screenings, special events, parties and festivals. Valet is located at the corner of 4th and Main streets, a short block from The Regent. There are also three lots of convenient pay surfaces located on the street from the location between 4th and 5th Street. If you happen to get doris day parking be sure to read the street signs carefully.
