[3] It was written by Mick Jagger and Keith Richards as one to follow the success of (I Can't Get No) Satisfaction. Recorded in Hollywood, California, in early September 1965, the song was released in September in the United States and in October in the United Kingdom. It topped the charts in the US, UK, Canada and Germany and reached number two in several other countries. The Composition Stones have said that the song is a reaction to their suddenly significantly greater popularity and deals with their aversion to the expectations of people from them after the success of Satisfaction. Richards commented: Get Off from My Cloud was basically a response to people knocking on our door asking us to follow up satisfaction... We thought, Finally. We can sit back and maybe think about events. Suddenly there's a knock at the door and of course what came out of it was Get Off from My Cloud. [4] In 1971, he added: I never dug it up as a record. The choir had a nice idea, but we rushed it as a follow-up. We were in LA [Los Angeles, where (I Can't Get No) Satisfaction was recorded] and it was time for another one. But how do you accomplish Satisfaction? In fact, what I wanted was to do it slowly, as in the Lee Dorsey thing. We sewn it. I think it was one of Andrew Loog Oldham's worst deeds. [5] In a 1995 interview with Rolling Stone, Jagger said: It was Keith's melody and my lyrics... It's a stop-bugging-me, post-teenage-alienation song. The grown world was a highly ordered company in the early '60s, and I was coming out of it. America was even more ordered than anywhere else. I found that it was a very restrictive society in thought, behavior and dress. [6] I was sick and tired, fed up with this and decided to take a drive to the center It was so very quiet and calm, there was no one nor the soul around myself, I was so tired and I started dreaming morning parking tickets were just like the flags stuck on my windshield [3] Song is F great and is based on variants of Louie Louie riff, short repetitive pattern of chords I, IV and in this case, E-A-B-A. [quote required] It opens with drum intro with Charlie Watts and twin guitars by Brian Jones and Richards. [1] Staff Mick Jagger – lead vocal Keith Richards – rhythm guitar, background vocals Brian Jones, twelve-string guitar, lead guitar, electric piano Bill Whiteman – bass guitar, supporting vocals Charlie Watt – drums[2] The release history of the 1965 single release was a major rolling stones success. In the US, the single reached number one on the Billboard Hot 100 on November 6, 1965, and stayed there for two weeks. [7] The song was released in December 1965 on the band's next American album, December's Children (And Everybody's). [8] The song remained number one on the UK Singles Chart for three weeks in November of this year. [9] Speaking in later Stones releases include: Got Live If You Like It! The outer left lyrics of this song MetroLyrics Complete Official Lyrics Rolling Stones – Get Off From My Cloud YouTube Retrieved from German TranslationGerman I live in a room on the 99th floor of my block, and I'm sitting at home and looking out the window, imagine the world is paused. There comes a guy flying, fully staked like a Union Jack, and says I would have gained five pounds if I had his kind of detergent. I said, hey! Down from my cloud! Hey you! Down from my cloud! Hey you! Down from my cloud! Hey you! Down from my cloud! Don't hang here, two is too much for my cloud, boy! The phone rings, I say, Hello, it's me. What is the lead? The voice says: Hello, hello, as it happens, well, I think you're fine He says: It's three in the morning, there's too much noise. Do you want people to go to bed for a while? Just because you're doing so well, do you have to muddy me stupidly? I said, hey! Down from my cloud! Hey you! Down from my cloud! Hey you! Down from my cloud! Don't hang here because the two are too much for my cloud, boy! I slammed me, I had enough of it and decided to go to town. It was so quiet and peaceful, no one was there, there is no human soul far and wide. I lay down, I was so tired, and I started dreaming. In the morning die Knöllchen Wie eine Fahne auf meiner Windschutzscheibe.Ich sagte, he du! Runter von meiner Wolke! He's a du! Runter von meiner Wolke! He's a du! Runter von meiner Wolke! Sehr freundliche Mitarbeiter. Runter von meiner Wolke! He's a du! Runter von meiner Wolke! He's a du! Runter von meiner Wolke! Sehr freundliche Mitarbeiter, sehr gutes Frühstück I live in an apartment on the 99th floor of my block And I sit at home looking out the window to imagine the world has stopped then flies a guy who's all dressed up like Union Jack And says that I've won five pounds if I have his kind of washing pack I said hey (Hey), you (You) get off of my cloud Heymis (Hey) , you (You) get off my cloud Hey (Hey), you (You) get out of my cloud Don't hang around cause the two are in the crowd on my cloud. baby phone ringing I say: Hello, is it me who it is there on the line? The voice says: Hello, hello, how are you? Well, I guess I'm doin, fine He says: It's 3 AM, there's too much noise, do you people ever want to go to sleep? Just because you're feeling so good, do you have to take me off my head?
