They have placed several elements of the original console game and added some features that will be produced soon. We couldn't believe it when we first saw it and waited until we hit Wi-Fi to download it. And its price is more than 300MB. This 2v2 arcade basketball NBA jam game is just like the one you remember playing as a kid. But it's more creative in gameplay. We summarize everything you're like from console releases in this mobile game version, from announcers to high jumping blocks. The thing that made this game so unique and fun is that there were no real fouls, free throws, or violations in addition to the 24th shooting gallery and goaltending. Everything else is a fair game, and the finish line should have to be a bull run of sky-high antics. Every comment in Google's Play Store about this app says, worth the price or actually brings me back to my kids. They hit a substantial impact on the market with NBA jams, and you're getting a great deal on a classic title. The multiplayer feature is a substantial addition, and we're sure it will amaze everyone who plays the game. The National Basketball Association (NBA) is a North American professional basketball tournament. It is the oldest professional basketball tournament in the world. 30 clubs are taking part in the competition in this match (including 29 American basketball clubs and one Canadian club). On June 6, 1946, for the first time, he hosted the NBA basketball tournament in New York City. The award is named after the National Basketball Association. The competition is organized and managed under the administration of the U.S. Basketball Association (BAA). Since its inception, the tournament has been through more than 70 years of intensive development. The NBA has become the world's most lucrative basketball tournament. The game always attracts the attention and following of most basketball fans. In particular, NBA basketball tournaments have always captured television waves in North America and other basketball fan countries in the world, such as the Philippines, China, and Guyana. With its charm, the NBA basketball tournament has become focused on attracting basketball players, the world's top coach to compete. So revenue from the NBA is always at the top of sports tournaments in the world. Famous players playing football in the NBA are also high-income athletes, not inferior to footballers like L. Messi and C Ronaldo. Once answered, what is the NBA? Let's learn about the most fascinating basketball tournament on this planet. About the game format, NBA Professional The tournament divides participating teams into two groups (equivalent to two groups in the East and West of the United States). It divides each group into three regions, and there are five teams for each site. Teams will play in three phases: preseason, regular season and playoffs. -- Preseason: This is a team's warm-up of the early season. During this period, teams will play randomly without ranking (like friendly matches in football football). Therefore, the couple can choose their opponents from outside North America to play. -- Regular season: This is the deciding phase of an NBA season. Each team will play 82 matches, four matches against teams in the same area, 3-4 games against teams in the field. Then there will be two matches against teams in other areas (former team versus Western Alliance and vice versa). At the end of the regular season, eight teams with the highest ranking in each domain will enter the playoffs. The basketball team will be given incentive awards to stay at the top of the domain rankings during the regular season. -- Playoff round: This is the final round of the NBA season. The playoff round will determine the winner of the season. 16 basketball teams will participate in the round, including the eight highest ranked teams in each domain -- the cross-match format between basketball teams in 2 regions. The team that ranks number one in a domain plays against the eighth-ranked team in the second field (the same ranking is based on the primary season). The winners of the above matches will continue to play against each other in any pair of games. Finish to enter the final and select two winning teams to select the winner. EA released NBA Jam for Android platform in 2012. As a diehard basketball sports fan, we've been looking forward to this game for a long time. NBA Jam keeps many NBA series elements, and they'll add some additional features to the later upgrade. However, the game needs to download a 300MB data package. We recommend that players download it when connected to Wi-Fi.NBA Jam, a 2v2 basketball game, like we were young, but with a comprehensive upgrade. From the sound of commentary to Dunk's action, it's consistent with the console version of the game. And there's no wrong setting in the NBA jam. Players can play freely, and the only rule is 24 seconds and scoring. After choosing your team, and your opponent's team, you can start the game. The first is the fight between the two sides. The buttons on the screen are very sensitive, and if you slide your finger over the button, there will be different actions. The initial button includes passing, acceleration, and dunk, and if you press acceleration and then slam dunk, blocking, three new functions of air relay, and shooting will pop up. Similarly, if there is a stroke, the option to pass or steal the ball will pop up. We also prefer Game because when you double click on the accelerator, you can use an elbow that allows you to make room to break and shoot through the opponent's defense. We can also use various other functions through different gestures. In NBA jams, players can play in the league and select one of their teams to defeat 36 other opponents. And many companies can be played together, each of which can be automatically saved to the SD card. Once you've settled the best rookie and veteran tedious game, you can try a higher difficulty level. Highly challenging computer AI is difficult, and all kinds of steals and blocks make you suffer. Another highlight of NBA Jam is the achievement system, which appears in game consoles like xbox360 and PS3. Completing a challenging game of the game will also give you extra fun. We are glad that such a simple but engaging game can finally be ported to the Android platform. We found that since we downloaded NBA Jam, we rarely even play Xbox, but nba jam leagues and challenges have been playing. We also recommended this game to our friends, and many people also downloaded it and played against it. Both the game screen and background music are excellent, but we can still score only 9 points for NBA Jam, as this game does not support online battles. Fortunately, we can connect via Wi-Fi LAN, which somewhat makes up for the drawbacks of multiplayer games. After selecting your team and your opponents, the game starts, and the jump-ball is where the action begins. On-screen controls are responsive, and there are different actions if you slide your fingers on each ward. There are buttons for pass, turbo and dunk. If you tap the turbo and slide your finger over the dunk, the selection opens for block (defense), alley-oop and shoot. If you swipe nearby, you can push or steal the ball. Now, what's good is that if you double tap turbo, you can throw your elbows off. It helps you free up some game space and take out those desperate seconds on the final roll. There are also gesture controls that you can use to eliminate by tapping the right button. Otherwise, you can slide your finger in different directions on the pad to release other moves. Make sure you read the controls before playing as we install them and can challenge ourselves to understand at first glance. Just as mentioned earlier, there are campaigns where you have to choose your division to go to the Northwest Atlantic, Southwest, Southeast, Pacific, Central. Or play them all. Go to select a team and defeat 36 opposing teams. The great thing about this model is that you can do multiple campaigns at once, and it automatically saves each one to the SD card. Once you are cheated and if you master difficulties, try tough ones where the CPU plays its game, steals the ball, and constantly blocks your shots. This game mode allows you A fast game. You can select teams for both mobile and. And once unlocked, you can choose different players and customize your unit. If you tire of his chosen character, you can replace him with another one half the time. When you're short on time, it's excellent, and this mode helps unlock some challenges where you don't want to waste anything in your campaign. You can join or create a game match between you and someone else sharing the same Wi-Fi in this area. It's an exciting feature and can leave some friendships on board after a few matches. The only thing missing is the ability to play online against random people rather than just friends on Wi-Fi. Another great mode is the Challenges section, which is now seen in several console games such as xbox360 and PlayStation 3. Just like the achievements you can unlock, you are presented with challenges to complete. It offers that extra bit of fun after beating a campaign or just taking a break. NBA Live Mobile Basketball is a mobile basketball game with extreme 3D graphics, which reproduces realistic images from the size of athletes to the movement of ball lines on the field.
