Which is why you need to keep these funny Christmas movies on hand throughout the holidays. We love old black and white classic Christmas movies and romantic Christmas movies (especially Hallmark Christmas movies!), but between wrapping gifts, baking cookies, and dealing with your extended family through Zoom, sometimes you need a good laugh at this time of year. A handful of these films are suitable for all ages, so they make great Christmas movies for kids too. But some of these Christmas movies are best saved for adults only party, and can and should be viewed with heavy serving eggnog or Hallmark Christmas themed wine! Even those who are not the biggest fans of Christmas can find themselves cracking a smile after watching Kevin McCallister, or Clark Griswold wreak the total havoc during the holiday season. But with every comedic misstep, there's a heartwarming lesson to be learned (and it's usually Santa who's teaching it). So trim the tree, deck the grass, and get your Christmas dinner to-do list took care of ASAP.
