Calendar november 2018 to february 2019

The temperature drops and the holiday season is fast approaching. If you want to get a hop on your holiday shopping, here are the best things to buy in November. Every month, we look back at the best times to buy anything during the year, and pull out items every month to remind you of what's coming. Of course, none of this is to say that you should go on a shopping spree – but if you've held off for a lower price on anything, these are the things that get sales processing in November. A bit of planning can save you a ton of money when it comes to buying all year round. Here's... Read more

All Autumn Cars: New car models come out in the summer, making the end of the year a great time to buy a car – as long as you're willing to get last year's model, says Consumer Reports, Bankrate and Dealnews. Deals should be even better in October than they were in September. Make sure it's no better for you to rent a car instead of buying, and if you want to get a good deal, you can save some money by haggling or (if you're evil) with car sellers. Cookware and kitchen accessories: Anyone who walked into a shopping centre in October knows that the holiday comes earlier and earlier every year, which means that sales start now! Cookware is one of the more popular things to start early so Bankrate and Dealnews, so check out Consumer Reports' cookware buying guide, our five must-have kitchen tools, and give your kitchen a makeover. Digital cameras: Cameras see some nice deals early in the year, but if you need one now, you'll probably see a new round of deals coming from the latest announcements. According to digital photography school and Digital Camera HQ, check out older models for a lower price. Gas grills and air conditioning: Just like in September, most stores are trying to get rid of their summer equipment. As Forbes says, no one wants to save things no one buys – it's cheaper to just sell it at a discount. So if you have room to store it, stock up on grills, air conditioning and other summer-only items now. Plants: Most plants aren't going to survive the hard winter ahead, but if you have an indoor garden or greenhouse going on, Real Simple and Dealnews recommend picking up your new plants cheaply when the weather starts to cool down. Toys and games: Places like Toys R Us are starting to boost holiday sales, so now is a good time to get your kids' stuff at a discount – either for Christmas gifts or not. Wedding Gear: As beautiful as it is, winter is not exactly first class wedding season for most people, which means that planning one becomes much easier. Find a place, negotiate services, and buy or rent supplies for much less as autumn and winter go on so Bankrate and Dealnews. Just don't go overboard - you can do a lot of trimming on your wedding budget if you know where to look. G/O Media can get a commission

November Appliances: we said in September and October, autumn is a good time for appliances. Most new models are starting to come out around this time, Bankrate says, so pick up last year's leftovers at a discount. This is where prices hit their lowest. Candy: If you don't mind that your candy is shaped like ghosts, skeletons and tombstones, November is a good time to stock up now that Halloween is over. Just don't go overboard - any candy is more unhealthy than the rest. TV and other electronics: We don't have to tell you about this. If you can, stick to Black Friday (or Cyber Monday, for you online shoppers) and take some of the best electronics deals you'll find all year round. Make sure there's really a deal before you pull the trigger, though (and keep an eye on our Black Friday coverage as the day gets closer). Tools: Dealnews says November is a great time to pick up extra tools, if you have any pre-winter repairs to rush out. Check out our guide to stocking the perfect toolbox and our list of DIY home repairs you can do yourself while you're in it. We will post updates for you every month, so you are aware of the offers that happen all year round. If you're curious to see what's coming up, you can always check out our best time to buy the guide to watch the whole year in an instant. November is a bargain hunter's dream. A bonanza of one-day sales and door-buster deals starts the start of the holiday shopping season this month. And consumers and retailers alike eagerly expect the event every year. But not everything will be marked down to its best price of the year. So, if you're waiting for prices to hit rock bottom, here are 11 things you probably won't buy this month, along with some tips from experts on how to get the most out for your shopping dollars.
