Looking for something to help with back pain? You want to try Dr. Ho's Decompression Belt. With this Dr. Hos Belt Review, I tell you more about the best, how it helps and how much Dr. At Belt Costs.Dr. Ho's Decompression BeltLiving with Back Pain is awful. It can affect anything you do. Pills and surgery are not the answer. So what is? Dr. Ho's Decompression Belt is a non-evasive, clinically proven way to get relief quickly for back pain. Dr. Ho's Back Belt is a way to provide the traditional decompression therapy in a portable back belt. Decompression therapy has been used for centuries, but normally with great equipment. When using the belt, after putting it around the waist tightly, it becomes inflated with the help of the pump included. Decompression back belt works by expanding and causing lower back muscles to stretch. This provides immediate pain relief anytime, anywhere. Dr. Ho Back BraceDecompression chiropractic treatments can cost thousands of dollars, but Dr. Ho's decompression back belt retails for only $160. That's a huge difference in savings. Plus, since everything is all together in one small package, it's easy to carry the belt with you anywhere. And there is not traveling off to a doctor's office and trying to fit yet another thing in your day. Since it can be used at home, in the car, in the office or anywhere, pain relief is never far away. Putting on your belt isn't complicated at all. Simply wrap it around the waist, tighten, fasten and inflate. Dr. Ho's Belt ReviewI was skeptical if the decompression belt would help anyone. When I turned it on, I followed all the steps and then started pumping it up. I could feel it blow up and grow. I could feel it stretching my lower back and lengthening it. Since this was a feeling I knew from yoga, lengthening my spine, I was hopeful that after I wore the belt for the right time, that I would feel better. I wore it while I was working and at the end of 30 minutes I took it off. I was glad that for the rest of the day, I felt better. I've used it once every day now, more if I'm having a bad day, and I feel so much better. My lower back pain has improved a ton and I may even feel a difference, some, in my middle and upper back. Dr. Ho Decompression BeltMy husband has used the belt as well. He wears it at night while he drives. He spends 14 hours a night in a car, so he tends to be very sore at night. He has noticed a drastic improvement in how he feels as well. When he doesn't have the belt inflated, he uses it for back support, while deflated, as the back support braces are sold in stores and used by movers or warehouse workers. Try Dr. Ho BeltIf you suffer from any back discomfort, I highly recommend Dr. Ho's Decompression belt. You can order it from Amazon in either standard deluxe kit.
